General Description of the Course:

Students will learn to define victimization and learn the scope of violent crime in society. The Course includes a review of the issues, prevalence, myths, policies, programs, and services aimed at victims. The class will examine the expanding role of the courts, the police, battered women’s shelters, victim/witness assistance programs, crisis intervention units and legislation. The course will also highlight non-conventional conceptions of victimization and international perspectives on victims’ rights.

Learning Goals:

A Statement of Principles from the Program in Criminal Justice

The Program Committee for the Program in Criminal Justice at Rutgers University in New Brunswick has adopted a series of learning goals for students who complete the major. These goals represent the consensus of the faculty regarding the concepts a student should grasp and the skills a student should acquire in the course of completing the major. These goals guide the choices faculty make about the structure of the curriculum and the requirements for our majors. Moreover, they guide faculty and instructors preparing course material and teaching courses.

The Program in Criminal Justice will provide students with a rich understanding of crime and criminal justice in the United States and abroad through an interdisciplinary approach that blends a strong liberal arts educational experience with pre-professional instruction in the field of criminal justice. Graduates of the program will be well-informed citizens on the topic of crime and justice, and qualified for graduate study or for employment as practitioners in a variety of legal, policymaking, and law enforcement fields.
Criminal justice majors graduating from a research university should be able to use critical thinking, factual inquiry, and the scientific approach to solve problems related to individual and group behavior. In addition, students should have an understanding of the legal, political and policymaking processes that affect criminal justice systems in the United States and elsewhere in the world. Finally, students should be familiar with the institutional structures and latest developments in the field in order to engage in meaningful debate about current public policy issues.

Learning Goals for Criminal Justice Majors

1. Competence:
   a. Theory. Students who complete the major in criminal justice should understand and be able to articulate, both orally and in writing, the core theoretical concepts that form the foundation of analysis and research in criminology and criminal justice today. Core concepts are derived from explanations of crime from a variety of perspectives, including biogenic, psychological, and sociological approaches. There are myriad theories of crime that are informed by these perspectives, including, classical, control, critical, ecology, labeling, learning, strain, and trait-based approaches. Theoretical literacy should extend to multicultural and international understanding.
   b. Institutions. Students who complete the major in criminal justice should understand the special role of three types of institutions: Police, Corrections, and Courts. In addition, students should know how institutional forms vary across jurisdictions and how these institutions interact with and influence each other.
   c. Research Methods. Although not covered in this course, students who complete the criminal justice major should be familiar with the tools, techniques, and data sources necessary for empirical analysis. Students should understand the various ways that empirical analysis is used in the scientific approach: for description, for developing, and for testing theories. They should be able to analyze data using computer applications and should be familiar with basic statistical techniques and regression analysis. They should be able to read and assess research from a wide range of sources, including general interest, academic, and government publications.

2. Critical Thinking:
   Upon completion of the major students should be able to apply their understanding of core concepts and quantitative tools to analyze and research real world problems, and evaluate alternative policy proposals on a range of criminal justice issues, from micro-level analyses relevant to particular cases to management concerns to macro-level analyses of legislative and other broad-scale policies. Accomplishment of this goal will require that students can apply their literacy and numeracy skills to different institutional structures, within the U.S. and across countries.

3. Scholarship:
Qualified majors should have an opportunity through such avenues as advanced coursework, internships, and faculty interactions to conduct independent research on matters of central relevance to the field of criminal justice.

Required Texts:

On Sakai:

1) Attendance & Participation
Participation and attendance are required and mandatory. Every unexcused missed class session will result in a deduction of 1 point off your final grade. You are expected to have the material read for the respective class. Failing to provide sufficient answers to posed questions will result in a score of zero for that day’s participation. Students are expected to fully participate in the lectures and will be called on regularly.

2) Reading Material
If participation and feedback on readings suffers, pop quizzes will be given sporadically.

3) Quizzes, Final Exam and Midterm Exam
Link to final exam schedules: http://finalexams.rutgers.edu
The quizzes and exams will be multiple choice or essay, depending on the size of the class. You will know this within the first two weeks of class. The final exam may or may not cumulative.
Exams will ONLY be rescheduled for an emergency and ONLY with appropriate documentation.

4) Newspaper Article Review/Presentation
The class presentation will be a write-up and presentation of a newspaper article dealing with an issue pertinent to victimology and domestic violence. If someone presents a newspaper article on something before you, please refrain from choosing the same article. Hard copy newspaper articles can be searched, as well as outlets like the New York Times and the Washington Post, which would allow you to search by key word.
NO WIKIPEDIA. The article should be attached to your type-written summation.

Students should outline the problem or topic in the article and depending on the content should offer suggestions, opinions or remedies- DO NOT SIMPLY REGURGITATE THE ARTICLE. The class should also pay attention to grammar, spelling and content, as this contributes to your grade. A sign-up sheet will be provided early in the semester and late assignments will not be accepted. Presentation of this newspaper article and your opinions and suggestions are expected to last FIVE MINUTES to SEVEN MINUTES. Practice and Time yourself prior to presenting. The timing of your presentation will also contribute to your grade. Also, once a day is chosen, it cannot be changed. Write down your date, if you miss it for any reason you will receive a zero for that grade. Presentations will be graded based on Presentation, Method and Content.

Extra Credit Option: (Maximum of 10 points added to the final grade) Every student will be afforded the opportunity to present an article that he or she has found in a newspaper, magazine, periodical, book, or online. The student will advise me at the beginning of each class if he or she wishes to make a verbal presentation. The article must be pertinent to Victimology and Domestic Violence and will be handed in after your presentation. Each presentation is worth either half a point or one full point added to the final grade. Each presentation should address the following:
• Why did you choose the article?
• How does this article relate to victimology and domestic violence?
• What is your opinion of the article and possible solutions?

DISABILITY OFFICE
Students with disabilities are responsible for having the appropriate documentation from the disability office, and providing it to the instructor at the beginning of the semester.
Full disability policies and procedures are at: http://disabilityservices.rutgers.edu/
Students with disabilities requesting accommodations must follow the procedures outlined at: http://disabilityservices.rutgers.edu/request.html

ACADEMIC DISHONESTY
Academic dishonesty will not be tolerated and any violation will be reported to the Dean of Students. No excuse will ever be tolerated for academic dishonesty, but it is even more important that students understand the repercussions of this unethical behavior. Academic dishonesty includes cheating, the fabrication or invention of information used in an assignment, plagiarism, facilitating the academic dishonesty of others or denying access to materials and resources.
